

Jim Bob Warren

The Henderson County Livestock Association is very happy to name Jim Bob Warren as the 2013 Catalog Dedication Award winner. Jim Bob has spent the last 33 years in LaRue after moving with his family at the age of two. Jim Bob graduated from Athens High School where he was actively involved in track and choir. He attended Trinity Valley Community College on a choir scholarship.

A member of the Baxter Baptist Church, Jim Bob has worked on several area ranches and has spent the past twelve years working for the Henderson County Fair Park. His service to Henderson County has extended past his job to the livestock show.

Jim Bob is always available when called. He has spent countless hours helping to insure the success of each livestock show. Whether it is hauling pig pens, panels, shavings, trash or dragging the arena or fixing a water leak or any of the many other things he does to insure our success, he always does it with a smile. He will even loan you his belt at a moments notice. (Ask Jim Bob to explain it to you.)

Jim Bob and his wife Marianne have two daughters, Jenny and Lizzie. Jim Bob enjoys hunting and is passing this on to his daughters as well. They enjoy time together in the woods and he feels this gives them quality time together.

Jim Bob is a happy outgoing man who makes those around him laugh and smile. He makes the week of the livestock show enjoyable and run smooth. The Henderson County Livestock Show is happy to honor Jim Bob Warren
